Barring Slight Injuries to Charley Stuttle, Boynton's Men Are in Good Form.

VISITORS ARRIVE TO-DAY.

Eleven From the Queen City Are Experienced Rugby Players and Will No Doubt Put Up a Fast Game.

Unless his condition improves before tomorrow Charley Stuttle, the Washington University's little quarter back, may be compelled to watch his team battle with the Cincinnati University eleven from the Stuttle was slightly injured in the Missouri-Washington game, and while he lined-up against the Vanderbilt team he was by no means in the best of condition. Yesterday he appeared at League Park, but was not in uniform. He complained of stiffness and soreness. Coach Boynton, however, hopes that Stuttle will be in shape for to-morrow's game with the big eleven from Cincinnati University.

In certain quarters Cincinnati has been ooked upon as easy picking for Boynton and Smith's charges, but neither Boyn-on nor Smith share the belief that Cincinnati will be easy.

Both the coach and physical director of Washington look for victory, but they exect a bard, unwavering battle from Boynton wants this game, and is send-ng his men through the proper training or a hard contest. For over two hours esterday afternoon he had the regulars out, and their work showed them to be in Class shape.

PITZMAN IS IMPROVING.

Pitzman, the fast half back, is improving daily in his ability to get through a fleid, and during scrimmage practice yesterday plunged through the opposition with precision and speed.

Bloan and Cassell also delighted Boynton by the improvement they are snowing in their work. Both players are gaining in their work. Both players are gaining in their speed daily, and their defensive work is much better than it was two weeks ago.

Cassell starts the ball quickly and gets into the play with a vim that forebodes a rather unpleasant time for the Cincinnati line. His aggressive playing inspires his fellow-players with confidence, and his defensive work against Missouri was of the highest class.

fellow-players with confidence, and his defensive work against Missouri was of the highest class.

Luckey is also much better now than he was two weeks ago, and all those who saw him play against the Missouri Tigurs know what this means. Against Missouri the big lineman played a great game, but he appeared a trifle slow and a bit loath to get into the midst of the grueling. He has overcome this tendency under the watchful eye of Boynton.

Tolson and Heuman were not out yesterday. They are both in good shape and their presence was not required. Krause and Garstang are players who always keep themselves keyed up to the proper pitch and this pair are only waiting for ito-morrow's whistle to show how good they are in real work.

The Cincinnati team will arrive this afternoon and will hold a little practice if they get in on time to go out to the park. They are said to be a husky lot and an aggressive team of ground galners.

Doctor Todd expects some first-class work against Defaney's team, are both showing up well. Bartliff has a haht: of hitting the line with every ounce of power in his body backing up the charge. His peculiar physique heips him in an attack on the line. He is solidly and compactly put together and is rather short for the Iropounds he totes around with him. Brockmeyer, who Doctor Todd considers the greatest half back in the State of Missouri, is another player whom adherents of the C. B. C. eleven look to for fast playing against St. Louis University. "Brock" is as eager for work as an Indian brave for the chase and the only trouble Doctor Todd has with him is to keep him from speedoing things. The elongated half back is in better shape now then he has been at any time zuring the season. His speed is increasing, and he is developing an extraordinary ground-gaining ability. St. Louis University has called off its game with the University of Kentucky that was scheduled for to-morrow, and will play an alumni team from this city instead. Veteran players of the institution will make up the opponents for the regular team. Balley, Dillon Swalen and Morlan being among the number. According to Captain Charles King of FOR CINCINNATI.

According to Captain Charles King of West Point, who witnessed the game be-tween Chicago and West Point, the Mich-ikan team will have no easy task with Starg's eleven Saturday. This opinion is directly account. is an team will have no easy task with Stars's eleven Saturday. This opinion is directly opposed to that expressed by Stark himself, who has been giving forth gloomy utterances on Chicago's chances. Dispatches from Ann Arbor state that Yost is making use of this prediction to stir up his men and prevent any feeling of overconfidence. The Michigan team has been scored on before this through being too sublimely confident of its own ability. Yost wishes to prevent any chances of having a mishap of the sort this week. Michigan of course, figures overwhelmingly the better with Chicago. Yet the men on Starg's team are drawing comfort from the fact that both Wisconsin and Minnesota held the Ann Arbor division in very creditable form.

Captain King's coinion is to the effect that Eckersail, quarter back on Chicago, is fully the equal of Daly of West Point, who is considered one of the best quarters in the East.

Players on the University of Chicago team have been partly disabled the last week through a rather singular ailment-that of suffering skin trouble from the

that of suffering skin trouble from the use of coloring matter in their sweaters, jerseys and towels which they used for rubbing down.

When the virulence of some of the coloring matter, especially in red shades, is considered, the fact that these athletes have suffered from exercising violently in sweaters of that color is not wonderful. With all their pores opened and the jerseys themselves dampened by perspiration, it is a common sight to see the skins of players in this city and in Chicago stained bright shades when they remove their football togs.

Any poisonous coloring matter on the ciothing can readily find access to the porce during practice, and the most complete scrubbing will not remove it from the skin. That Chicago has had some men laid up is not to be wondered at.

Cattin, Ahiswede, Nordenholt, Hora and Ivison all suffered from the trouble last week and were not out at practice yesterday, according to dispatches from Chicago.

"Have you noticed how little the second of the coloring to dispatches from Chicago."

"Have you noticed how little the new quarter back rule affects the game this season?" asked Charley Stuttle, quarter back on Washington's team. "Instead of season?" asked Charley Stuttle, quarter back on Washington's team. "Instead of the new ordinance resulting in a plethora of end runs, the work of a player in that position has been much the same as it was last year.

"It was thought that a runaway game could be made when it was decided that quarters could run with the bail. But how many plays of that sort have been made on the local gridiron this year? About all that I can recall have resulted in a penalty for the team attempting the play, as the quarter has generally falled to cross the center at the five-yard mark.

"One play that hasn't been worked up yet is the direct pass from the center to the backs, with the quarter moved over into the interference. This ought to be a nice trick play. The back would have to take the ball on the run, of course, to make it feasible, and that would be the greatest danger-fumbling the sphere.

"These trick plays are hard to work in a game when the opposing team equals you in ability. They are all right when lined up against an inferior eleven, but they are pretty dangerous against a strong squad."

For the last six years Princeton has not Although yesterday was a holiday at Christian Brothers' College it did not went the football squad from getting Yale in any one game. In fact, only three touchdowns have been made by Princeton in that number of years-Poe's in 1898. Relter's in 1899, and Dewitt's Saturday. Four goals from the field have been kicked by Princeton in the six games-one by Poe in 1899, one by Mattes in 1909, one by Dewitt in 1992, and another by Dewitt Saturday. This is a total of thirty-eight points scored by the Tigers in the seven years against the Blues.

On the other hand, Yale in that time has scored twelve touchdowns and one goal from the field-by Sharpe in 1899. Yale's total of points for the six years is sixty-nine. Yale shut Princeton out in 1897 and 1901, and Princeton whitewashed Ell in 1898. In six out of the last nine Yale-Princeton games both sides have scored.

tend to spare neither money or time in securing such players."

Secretary Hedges also stated that other new players besides a second baseman were liable to be with the Browns next season.

The head of the local American League aggregation is not a bit shy in stating that every player will be expected to do his full duty in giving S'. Lours a better position in the race next season than it occupied during the IMC campaign.

MAY MAKE TRADES. It is the opinion of Hedges that many trades will be effected in both leagues during the coming winter, and he intends to get in on some of the good things. He ing the coming winter, and he intends to get in on some of the good things. He stated that he is in a position to trade several players in case a good opening presents itself.

Barrett of Detroit is one player whom the Browns are after, but Hedges now admits that securing him is out of the question. Negotiations for his transfer to St. Louis were begun some months ago, but when the Detroit management had the temerity to ask for no less a player than Rhody Wallace in exchange for the fast center-fielder, Hedges almost had apoplexy.

The moment the Detroit management mentioned Wallace as the man they desired, Hedges informed them that the deal was off. Wallace is one player that Hedges has no idea of parting with. He admits that he has some players with whom he can easily be induced to part, but he states that he would not trade the little shortestop.

Just who the second baseman is that Mr. Hedges is after is a mystery, but the writter opines that it is none other than Tom Daly of the "Reds."

Daly will more than likely be let out at Cincinnati this season. If he does he will be gobbled up by another major leagues team, and the local American Leaguers, would do well to grab him.

GENERAL BOXING NOTES AND GOSSIP OF THE RING.

Jack Cordell Won From Aurelia Herrera at Oakland Tuesday-Many Boxers at Latonia.

Jack Cordell, former amateur champion of the Pacific Coast, is coming to the fore as a candidate for pugilistic honors in the light-weight class. In a match at the Reliance Club of Oakland last Tues day evening he won from Herrera all the way in a fifteen-round fight, Cordell was 2 to 1 in the betting, Herrera being an overwhelming favorite. Acounts of the battle show that the victor had the lead almost throughout the con-Cordell is another amateur to blossom from the "simon pure" ranks into professional sport. Jim Corbett, Joe Choynski, and even our old friend Jack Munro, appeared as amateurs long before they fought a professional battle. San Francisco has turned out many a good man in the professional ranks as a result of featuring amateur sport.

Conjectures have often been offered as to why one locality or city produced more good fighters than another. The real solution is invariably the opportunity afforded the men to appear in the ring, whether as amateurs or professionals. Good men halling from small towns have always made their name after reaching the big cities.

Amateur sport on the coast flourished to such an extent under the old California Athletic Club that many a good man was turned out who would have had no opportunity of learning his own merit otherwise. Even in this city, with its amateur fights worthy of note practically limited to the bouts at the old Pastime Club, one or two promising men were turned out in the brief period in which the amateur game existed.

Jake Holtman was one of these. He earned some renown as a heavy weight. Ed Laily, who afterwards joined the police force, was of some merit as a professional fighter. And several smaller men, who afterward became professionals, had their first experiences in the amateur ring.

Had the old club continued to exist and

Had the old club continued to exist and to card amateur fights, it is extremely likely that this city would have been strongly represented in the ranks of professional pugilism. Incidentally, the Latonia race track affords an example of pursuits into which pugilists drift in the course of a dull period in the fighting game. Jake Holt-pugilists drift in the course of a dull period in the fighting game. Jake Holtman, of course, has long since abandoned the ring and now confines himself to starting. But he made his start in the ranks of sport as boxer in this city.

To continue shout other nurilists, however, Charley Vokes, former light-weight chempion of Ohio, assists Hollman at the gate. Pete Nolan, once heavy-weight amateur boxing champion of the West, is now racing Pathos, Leenja and one or two others of his string at the Cincinnati course. Charley Hyams, who is now riding, first learned to keep down his weight while boxing.

Among the attendants at the course are Bob Laily, once a fighter of some note; Barney Furey, the Cincinnati light weight; Mike Gilespie, who once stood off George Dixon in a limited-round go; Bobby Bowers, once well known in the bantum division; Walter Campbell of Buffalo, who has several good fights to his credit.

In commenting on these attendants, a sporting writer of Cincinnati notes the fact that the only ones of the bunch not doing well are those following the betting end of the game. Such a comment would seem rather superfluous, as the fact could be taken for granted.

Hialmer Lundin, the wrestling champion of Sweden, is to meet Parr, the English wrestler, in Mechanics' Hall, Worcester, Mass., next Monday evening in a bout at mixed styles, best two in three. One bout is to be Graeco-Roman, the second catch-as-catch-can, and the third the style preferred by the man beaten in the preceding fall.

Lundin is making strong efforts to get on matches with the best men in his class, and yesterday sent a letter to the sporting editor of this paper stating that he was ready o meet any man his weight. He has the following frank announcement on his envelopes and letterheads: "Not at the top, but near it."

It is so unusual a thing for a wrestler or fighter to fail to claim that he is at the very top notch in his own class that Lundin deserves credit—of a sort—for his announcement.

OF OLYMPIAN GAMES.

Series of Equestrian Games Will Be Carded at World's Fair.

Polo players of Germany will compete with those from this country in a special contest at the World's Fair, Director Sullivan announcing yesterday that he had completed arrangements for a polo tourney as part of the Olympian games.

Trades Before Opening of Next Season.

If Robert Lee Hedges, secretary of the Browns, is able to carry out his present plans St. Louis will have a real "World's Fair" bull team next season.

Mr. Hedges, who is in the city to attend to some basebail business says he has practically closed negotiations for a second baseman.

He said that for the present he thought it advisable to withhold the name of the player, but he gives assurance that he is both experienced and capable.

"Of course," said Hedges, "if Padden is in condition he will be back at the middle pillow, but in case he is unable to play ball we intend to put a man in his place who will come up to the major lengue re-players who will add much strength to the Cardinals next season, but said he desired to withhold their names.

The players in question are a pitcher and an infielder, who, according to Mr. Robison, will need no introduction to the patrons of baseball in this city.

According to Robison nothing has been done so far to straighten out the tangle that exists in the local National League Club. He hinted, however, that several trades would be made, whereby St. Louis would get some new players in exchange for some of last year's Cardinals.

He stated that no action in regard to Donovan's reappointment as manager of the Cardinals or the appointment of his successor in case he is disposed of, will be taken until after the National League meeting, which convenes at New York City, December 7.

West Ends to Play East Siders. Arrangements have been made for the gam at Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon between the West Ends of St. Louis and the East St. Louis Alumni teams. Henry, Farrell, Lowe, Wonderley, Maddox, Genrier, Harris, Barr, Walsh, Hale and Macklind are among the players who will line up with the West Ends, while S. Smith, Drengler, Askins, Moore, Eggeman, Hierick, Liter and Humis are among the better known players on the East Side team.
